Beatlemaniacs support CMRI

March 19, 2014, midnight

Hamming it up and ready for the Beatlemania night.

GERRINGONG Children's Medical Research Institute will rock'n'roll back the years when they host their Beatlemania fund-raising event at Gerringong Town Hall on Saturday, April 5.

The night promises a blast from the past, with local band Boyz 'n Berry providing the entertainment.

"This is definitely one not to miss," CMRI secretary Lorraine Peade said.

"It's 50 years since the Beatles came to Australia and Boyz 'n Berry will be belting out Beatles tunes that will not only have everyone up and dancing, but singing along as well.

"But in the end who needs an excuse for a good night out?"

As well as dancing the night away, there will be Beatles trivia, and those who feel inclined can belt out a Beatles song on the karaoke machine.

"Gerringong CMRI were around when the Beatles visited, and I would imagine some of our members will remember the visit, while those who don't will still know their songs."
