Included with this is the redevelopment of the building and facilities in which the Institute operates. Consequently, the Institute also has long term objectives to grow its funding sources to accommodate the costs of redevelopment and increased operating costs from expanding its research and supporting operations. The Institute received $20 million from the New South Wales Government in 2012 towards its building redevelopment. Construction of the first stage of this redevelopment commenced in February 2013.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The principal activity of the Institute throughout the period continued to be conducting research into the causes, prevention, relief or cure of disease and illness in children. The Institute operates as a not-for-profit entity. Income to support this activity is derived from activities including applications for grants from many sources, from public fund raising campaigns and events, and from management of an endowment fund in the Institute's name, managed to achieve investment returns with acceptable risk. The endowment fund is regarded as a perpetual investment, meaning that although it may be utilised in the short term for capital purchases or operating purposes, the intention is to manage the fund so as to produce investment returns in perpetuity, in order to assist achievement of the Institute's goals. CMRI's investment strategy includes a diversified investment portfolio with a mixture of defensive assets and a balanced growth portfolio. The Board expects this investment strategy will serve CMRI well over the long term. The Board does not profess to be an 'expert investor' and hence utilizes the services of managed funds professionals to monitor and control the investment portfolio and it also seeks advice from a professional adviser.

The Institute also plans and measures its growth in all funding sources and manages its overall financial performance in a way that will allow it to continue to maintain and potentially grow its research programs in the foreseeable future. To this end, it may operate at a net loss in any reporting period by utilizing funding from net surpluses generated over other reporting periods.

The Institute measures its research performance by various indicators. These include the number, quality and impact of its research data publications in peer-reviewed international scientific journals and also the number of patent filings; by its level of success with competitive, peer-reviewed national and international project grant applications; and by its level of success with competitive scholarship and fellowship applications; by indicators of esteem with which its researchers are held within the research community, such as invitations to write review articles for prestigious journals and to speak at national and international conferences and at other research institutions; by success in training research students and post-doctoral fellows; and by the extent to which its researchers contribute to the conduct of research in their disciplines within Australia and internationally, including contributions to scientific peer review, governance of research, and research policy direction.

During the reporting period, other than as disclosed in these Financial Statements and Directors' Report, there were no significant changes in the nature of the Institute's activities or in the Institute's state of affairs and it is not envisaged that they will change in the foreseeable future. There have been no changes or developments since the end of the reporting period that would have a material impact on the financial statements.

The net result from continuing operations of the Institute for the year ended 31 December 2012 was a surplus of $2,406,331 (31 December 2011 - deficit of $2,486,794).

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Basis of Accounting

This general purpose financial report has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards – Reduced Disclosure Requirements, other authoritative pronouncements and interpretations of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, and the Corporations Act 2001.

The financial statements are presented in the Australian currency.

Historical cost convention

These financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, as modified by the revaluation of available-for-sale financial assets at fair value.

Critical accounting estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgment in the process of applying the Institute's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgment or complexity are disclosed in Note 1(b) to the financial statements.

(b) Critical accounting estimates and judgements

Estimates and judgements are continually evaluated and are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that may have a financial impact on the entity and that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Estimates and assumptions made by the entity are as follows:

Impairment of available-for-sale financial assets

The entity has made a significant judgement about the impairment of its available-for-sale financial assets. The entity follows the guidance of AASB 139 Financial Instruments: Recognition and measurement on determining when an available-for-sale financial asset is impaired. This determination requires significant judgement. In making this judgement, the entity evaluates, among other factors, the duration and extent to which the fair value of an investment is less than its cost. If the decline in fair value below cost was considered significant or prolonged the financial asset was impaired. Significant is considered to be a persisting 20% or more decrease below cost and prolonged is a timeframe of one year or more.

(c) Other Financial Assets

The Institute has assessed its other financial assets and classified them as available-for-sale financial assets. Management determines the classification of its investments at initial recognition.

Available-for-sale financial assets are non-derivatives that are included in non-current assets unless management intends to dispose of the investment within 12 months of the balance sheet date.

Regular purchases and sales of investments are recognised on trade-date – the date on which the Institute commits to purchase or sell the asset. Investments are initially recognised at fair value plus transaction costs.

Available-for-sale financial assets are subsequently carried at fair value. Changes in the fair value of available-for-sale financial assets are recognised in equity. When these assets are sold or impaired, the accumulated fair value adjustments recognised in equity are included in the surplus (deficit) as gains and losses from investment securities.

The Institute assesses at each balance date whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or group of financial assets is impaired.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

(d) Income Tax

The Institute is exempt from income tax.

(e) Leasehold Buildings and Improvements

The Westmead laboratories of the Institute are located on land owned by the New South Wales Department of Health and in 1992 the Institute entered into a 50 year lease for the property at a rental of $1 per annum, with an option to renew for another 50 years. Accordingly, the buildings and improvements are being amortised over the unexpired term of the lease or the life of the relevant assets, whichever is shorter.

(f) Depreciation of Property, Plant and Equipment

All property, plant and equipment is stated at historical cost less depreciation. Historical cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the items. Depreciation is calculated on a straight line basis to write off the net cost or revalued amount of each item of property, plant and equipment over its expected useful life. The expected useful lives are as follows:-

Leasehold Building and Improvements	50 years
Plant Furniture and Equipment	4-10 years

(g) Intangible Assets

(i) Patents

Patents typically have a useful life of 20 years and are carried at cost. Amortisation is calculated on a straight-line basis over their useful life.

(ii) Capitalised Software

Costs incurred in developing products or systems and costs incurred in acquiring software and licenses that will contribute to future period financial benefits through revenue generation and/or cost reduction are capitalised to software and systems. Costs capitalised include external direct costs of materials and service and direct payroll and payroll related costs of employees' time spent on the project. Amortisation is calculated on a straight-line basis over 5 years. IT development costs include only those costs directly attributable to the development phase and are only recognised following completion of technical feasibility and where the entity has an intention and ability to use the asset.

(h) Receivables and Revenue Recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Amounts disclosed as revenue are net of returns, trade allowances and amounts collected on behalf of third parties.

Revenue from the building redevelopment grant is recognised to the extent that costs are incurred on the related building construction and fit out. The unspent portion of the grant is deferred until costs are incurred.

Income receivable on investment activities is accrued in accordance with the terms and conditions of the underlying financial instrument.

Other income is recognised as revenue when the right to receive payment is established.

(i) Inventories

Finished goods held for resale are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

(j) Trade and Other Creditors

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Institute prior to the end of the reporting period and which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition.

(k) Employee Entitlements

(i) Wages, salaries, annual and sick leave

Liabilities for wages and salaries, including non-monetary benefits, annual leave and accumulating sick leave expected to be settled within 12 months of the reporting date, are recognised in employee entitlements in respect of employee's services up to the reporting date and are measured at the amounts expected to be paid when the liabilities are settled. Liabilities for non-accumulating sick leave are recognised when the leave is taken and measured at the rates paid or payable.

(ii) Long service leave

A liability for long service leave is recognised, and is measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made in respect of services provided by employees up to the balance date.

In assessing expected future payments the company has adopted the "short hand" measurement technique and based the provision on remuneration rates current as at balance date for all employees with five or more years of service. The directors believe that this method provides an estimate of the liability that is not materially different from the estimate that would be obtained by using the present value of measurement.

Related on-costs have also been included in the liability.

(l) Other Current and Non-Current Assets

During previous financial years the Institute has contributed to the purchase of computer and other equipment by collaborators such as the University of Sydney or other members of the Westmead Research Hub. The Institute has unrestricted right of use of the equipment. The amounts paid have been capitalised and are to be written off over the expected life of the right to use the equipment. The expected life has been determined to be 5 years.

(m) Fringe Benefit Tax Concessions

The Institute is classified as a Public Benevolent Institution and is exempt from fringe benefits tax up to certain limits for FBT years commencing after 1 April 1998.

(n) Impairment

Property, plant and equipment, intangibles and financial assets are tested annually for impairment or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that they might be impaired. These assets are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less cost to sell or value in use. In the case of property, plant and equipment value in use is taken to be the depreciation replacement cost of the asset concerned.

The Building Redevelopment Capital Grant of $20 million, excluding GST, was received from the New South Wales government in 2012. It is restricted to use under the terms of a funding agreement with the Health Administration Corporation ("HAC") for the design, construction and operation of a medical research building on the existing property leased by CMRI. Interest earned on the grant funds is also required to be applied to the same project.

If any grant funds or interest earned thereon are applied for any purpose other than the purpose for which they were granted then CMRI is liable to repay HAC such amount forthwith plus interest in accordance with the Cash Rate Target (as specified by the Reserved Bank of Australia) at the relevant date increased by 2 percentage points. If any grant funds or interest earned thereon remain unspent at the completion of the project, then CMRI and HAC will agree its use, which may include future building maintenance. Any failure to agree will be dealt with as a dispute under the terms of the funding agreement.

Accordingly, revenue is only recognised to the extent costs are incurred on the project in accordance with the terms of the related funding agreement. Where grant funds or interest earned thereon are unspent at the balance date, then the aggregate amount is shown as deferred income. Project costs are capitalised and are shown as Work in Progress at Note 10.

Other grants may be repayable if the grant funding is not spent in accordance with the terms of each relevant funding agreement and therefore revenue is recognised only when valid expenditure is incurred and unspent amounts are deferred until such time as eligible expenditure is incurred.

In accordance with the requirements of the Regulations to the Charitable Fundraising Act 1991, the Children's Medical Research Institute has maintained proper and effective internal control over the conduct of all appeals conducted by it. It is not practicable, however, for the Institute to establish complete accounting control over all unsolicited income prior to its receipt by the New South Wales office. The directors believe that the controls in place are adequate and the risk of material amounts of unsolicited income not being recorded by the Institute is low.

Those standards require that we comply with relevant ethical requirements relating to audit engagements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial report is free from material misstatement.

The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation of the financial report that gives a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial report.

Our audit did not involve an analysis of the prudence of business decisions made by directors or management.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.
