

The Daily Telegraph

Local kids to raise funds for Children's Medical Research Institute

Macarthur Chronicle Campbelltown

June 4, 2019

THREE Macarthur children will be faces of this year's Jeans for Genes campaign. Charlize Gravina, 4, from Theresa Park, is joined by five-year-old Henry Gowans, from Currans Hill, and Iluka Michael, also 4, from Gregory Hills, starring in the annual fundraising campaign for the Children's Medical Research Institute, which seeks cures for genetic diseases.

One in 20 Australian children face a birth defect or genetic disease. Jeans for Genes Day is on August 2 but community members can raise funds for the not-for-profit Institute at any time. The three Macarthur families will hold a cake stall at Bunnings in Gregory Hills from 8am on Saturday.

Full story: <https://www.dailytelegraph.com.au/newslocal/macarthur/local-kids-to-raise-funds-for-childrens-medical-research-institute/news-story/e983ecfb2a49413c9f49ff93f9dcb0f>